HOLIDAY CELEBRATION

Fourth Annual "A Pelham Hometown Christmas"

A Pelham Hometown Christmas is back for the fourth year, and volunteers with Pelham Strong are busy making it a day your family will remember as a highlight of the holiday season. It all takes place on Saturday, December 14, 2024. Organizers say their goal is to center the event around what a child would want to see and do. They believe the event, which drew almost 15,000 people last year, is a success because people of all ages get to be a kid again.

All events are centered around the Pelham Civic Complex & Ice Arena. The day starts with Candy Cane Lane opening at 2:30 p.m. Once again, vendors will be available with items for sale and information about their businesses and organizations. Photo opportunities will be available, and face painters and balloon artists will entertain the kids. Representatives from Pelham Strong say the photo ops for families include a 14-foot snowglobe that people can get inside for pictures, the Shutter Bus, which allows you to take pictures in the retro photo booth style, and a 360-degree photo booth. Inside the Civic Complex, children under ten and their families can take advantage of free ice skating from 2:30 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. Everyone's favorite characters, including the Ice Sisters and everyone's favorite snowman, a certain web-slinging hero, Rapunzel, and the Good Witch, will be skating.

Students from Pelham Ridge Elementary will sing some songs of the season. The first through third-grade choir will perform at 3:00 p.m., and the fourth and fifth-grade choir will take the stage at 3:30 p.m.

(Article continues on the next page)

At 5:00 p.m., the Pelham Christmas Parade will roll from the Civic Complex parking lot, turning right on Highway 31 North, right onto Highway 119, and right onto State Park Road to complete the loop back to the parking lot. As of publication, 57 floats have registered for the parade, which features the Pelham High School marching band. This year's theme is "Christmas Past & Present".

The Grand Marshals of this year's Christmas Parade are familiar faces around Pelham. Former Pelham High School football stars and University of Alabama standouts Lane Bearden and Tyler Watts will lead the parade. Bearden and Watts were teammates at Pelham High School and made a name for themselves at the University of Alabama from 1999-2002. Bearden was a punter for the team, while Watts played quarterback. Both played under Head Coaches Mike Dubose and Dennis Franchione.

After the parade, the tree lighting will follow around 6:30 p.m. The Pelham Park Middle School and Pelham High School choirs will sing carols, the float winners will be announced, and we'll find out who won the Pelham BEAT Christmas Light contest.

Family-friendly activities will take place in the Pelham Civic Complex & Ice Arena immediately following the tree lighting. Santa will be available for photos, and the Pelham High School Culinary class will serve cookies, hot chocolate, and hot cider. People of all ages can enjoy free ice skating with the Ice Sisters and everyone's favorite snowman, the Island Princess, and Rapunzel. You can also get a free Pelham Christmas ornament while supplies last.

All activities are free. Gather your friends and family and make plans to attend! Special thanks to the Pelham Strong organization for organizing this uniquely Pelham event.

"Christmas Past & Present" is this year's parade theme.

Elf Adventure

It's not too late to pick up a passport at the Pelham Rec Center and join the Shop Local Elf Adventure. Santa's mischievous elves are hiding in eleven local retailers through December 7th. It's your job to find them!

Participants will visit the retailers listed on the passport and have it stamped. Be sure to take a picture of the elf and post it on social media. Tag the local business in your post, and use the hashtag #PelhamElfAdventure to share the fun.

On Sunday, December 8th, the Elf Adventure culminates in a big finale party from 2:00 p.m. - 4:00 p.m. at the Pelham Rec Center. Elf Adventure participants should bring their completed passports to the party to enter drawings for great prizes from local businesses. Alicia Walters, Assistant Director of Pelham Parks & Recreation, said, "We had such a great time at last year's party, so we're amping up the fun this year. Santa will be available for pictures, and the Grinch will also be lurking around. The first 25 children will receive a free elf hat." She said bounce houses will be in the gym, and complimentary refreshments will be served. "Everyone is invited to the party, even if you didn't participate in Elf Adventure," Walters added.

You can read more about the Shop Local Elf Adventure on the Pelham Parks & Recreation website.

A Christmas Show on Ice

The Birmingham Figure Skating Club and Pelham Skate School are hard at work practicing for A Christmas Show on Ice. The show will feature about 130 skaters and a very special host.

Christian Newberry, Skating Director at Pelham Civic Complex & Ice Arena, said spectators can expect a thrilling holiday performance. "We have a jam-packed show this year. We've expanded the show to include more ice skaters of all ages and skill levels. You'll see everyone from our Learn to Skate students to professional coaches." Santa Claus will host the show this year, adding to the Christmas spirit.

The show will take place on Saturday, December 21st, from 5:30 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. Tickets are available by emailing Christian Newberry or purchasing them at the rink. "If you email me, please include the number of tickets, and I will send an invoice to pay. The tickets will be available at will-call on the day of the event," explained Newberry. Tickets are $12 each, and children five years of age and younger are free.

"I want to thank the Birmingham Figure Skating Club and all of the parents and coaches for making A Christmas Show on Ice possible," added Newberry.

Youth Game Night

Let your children spend Friday night with friends!
